

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Audio information is recorded in units of tracks on an information storage medium on which audio information and management information that pertains to the audio information are recorded, and information indicating the playback sequence of the audio information is recorded in the management information. Furthermore, information indicating break positions of tracks with respect to the audio information is recorded in the information indicating the playback sequence.

09014461.072501